A Special Note to the Hornets

Greetings Hornets!

I hope that your Fall semester has started out well. I encourage you to first, manage your academic schedule and time management. Secondly, I ask that you consider engaging with the campus, be it at a sporting event or join a club. There is so much to experience on campus, and the college journey goes really fast for many.

I also encourage you to be mindful of your mental health. Sac State has so many services and wonderful staff to help you navigate and work through challenges. If you just need a listening ear or want to say hello, I will make time for you as well. Students are why I am in this work—you matter!

I hope you have a fantastic week. Stingers up!
