Hello Hornets! 🐝

I hope your midterms are going well and that you're pushing through this point in the semester with confidence and determination. As we continue moving forward in the spring semester, remember that ASI is here to support you whether you're looking for community, guidance, or opportunities to grow.

As your SSIS Director, I remain committed to strengthening connection within our Hornet community and making sure you're aware of all the resources available to you, including basic needs support, leadership opportunities, and funding for student-driven projects, events, and initiatives. There's still so much happening this semester, and I encourage you to stay engaged in the ways that feel meaningful to you.

Keep taking care of yourselves, stay focused, and don't hesitate to reach out if you need support. You've got this, let's keep moving forward strong!

Stingers up!!

Jonathan P.
