Few Words –

Well, we are almost done with this semester and for some of us, done with our degree. These upcoming weeks might be little challenging but remember, they are not different than the last four months. If we survived the whole semester, we can get through this as well. Just keep your mind strong and heart soft. A strong mind will help you to do the hard work, visit tutoring center, visit professors in their office hours if you need help with your course, study with friends, ask them to help you if you can't figure out something by yourself. A soft heart will remind you to take a break, eat properly, and have a good sleep. Just take care of yourself.

-every problem holds a solution within.
