Few Words

We are about to enter into our final month of this semester and professors has started wrapping the syllabus. This brings the excitement, as the semester will be over soon, and the anxiety of finals getting closer day by day. So, on this, student should know that they don't have to struggle alone behind the laptop/computer screen. Sacramento State has all resources available to help students with studies like tutoring centers, professor's office-hours and to help with wellness & health like the well, counseling services as well as ASI. We, as ASI, might not be expert in helping you solving your math problems but we do know who can. So, always feel free to reach out to any of us. We are here to help!
