A Special Note to Our Hornets

Hello Hornets!

I hope you are all doing well physically, emotionally, spiritually, and academically as we begin to approach the midpoint of the semester. This new virtual environment I know can be overwhelming at times, but I hope you can rely on your family, friends, and university to be the beacons of light to guide you through these turbulent times. I have been busy at work, chipping away at the block of the vast array of initiatives that the ASI board collaborated on and put into place for this academic school year for the benefit of students. In working on some of these items, we hope to see you engage and enjoy in our efforts as they come to fruition gradually but surely.

I wish you the best of luck with midterms, furthering your academic and professional careers, and your person lives. We're all in this together, hornets.

Warmest regards,

Alejandro Buenrostro

Current Project Updates

Election Ambassadors program

Continuing work on the program, primarily transitioning to text banking to advocate for the importance of voting with personal circles and community.

Social justice and cultural humility modules

An advocacy form has been submitted and the project has been brought before admins for critique and advise. Will be discussed at the Anti-racism task force.

BAC Yard

Working with sustainability to determine viability of Covid-19 compliant volunteer continuation. Have begun conversations with contact within the department and are set to meet further in October.
