Special Note for Hornets:

Hello Hornets,

Midterms are in full swing, and I know it can be a challenging time. Whether you're in the middle of exams or gearing up for them, remember to pace yourself, take breaks, and prioritize your well-being. You've put in the work, and you've got this!

It's okay to feel overwhelmed, but don't forget—you're not alone. Reach out to friends, professors, or campus resources if you need support. A little self-care goes a long way, so get enough rest, eat well, and believe in yourself.

If you need any support—academic or mental health resources—don't hesitate to reach out. Wishing you all the best! 🍷🐝

Warm regards,

Your ASI Director of NSM

“Here to support you mentally and academically”
