A Special Note to Our Hornets

Welcome home Hornets!

I am so excited to see everyone's beautiful faces and smiles on campus. I look forward to this upcoming semester and the friendships I have created and continue to create. I would also like to thank those for trusting me in this position and electing me.

First, I would like to thank all those who have answered my questions and guided me in the right direction as I got settled into my position.

I am looking forward to getting my Joint Council established and hoping to build a strong foundation for myself and future directors. I have faced a lot of stress in trying to establish my joint council, but I am so grateful to have support from the faculty in the College of NSM, Chloe and other directors who have helped me recruit students and answer my questions.

If anyone needs anything throughout the semester, I am a shoulder to lean on and always have listening ears. Feel free to reach out to me with any questions.

“The beautiful thing about learning, is that no one can take it away from you.” -B.B. King
