A Special Note to the Hornets

Greetings Hornets!

The semester is really rolling along and I hope your midterms went well. I would encourage you to be mindful of your mental health for the home stretch this semester--connect with our Counseling Services if needed. The time change and differences in daylight (or lack of) can have a depressive effect on some.

Finally, your success is important to me. If you ever have barriers as a student at Sac State, please don't hesitate to reach out to me if you need a listening ear, want to seek options for difficulties, or need someone to help navigate support.

I hope you have a fantastic week. Stingers up!
