News

Greetings Hornets!

As we head into the final stretch of the semester, I hope you are practicing as much personal care as possible (often a challenge as finals approach). In a time of seasonal overstimulation, please take time to clear your minds of all unnecessary white noise and focus squarely at the tasks at hand – closing out the year with a strong effort and doing so in a healthy manner.

Once we are past finals, I am hopeful each of you will be able to enjoy the holiday season in the way that suits you best – be it with family and/or friends, in Sacramento or in your favorite place. You have each made it through a very trying and challenging semester and you have earned some time to relax, recharge and re-energize. Thank you for all you do for our students, our University and for each other!

Here are a few quick updates you may wish to share with your constituents:

Scholarships Available in the Spring and Beyond

As was discussed briefly in a previous ASI Board meeting, there is an easy way for Sacramento State students to apply for scholarships, either through their Student Center or the Sac State scholarship website. By completing just one general application, students can be automatically matched to scholarship for which they are matched.

A list of scholarships currently available can be found at: <https://csus.academicworks.com>.

Complete the PRIDE Center's Safe Zone Training

Join the PRIDE Center for a Safe Zone Training on Thursday, Dec. 9, 2021, from 9am-noon. The training highlights the importance of incorporating LGBTQ+ humility and inclusive language into our everyday work and personal life. Participants will engage in conversations about the influence of identity on student success and campus safety for LGBTQ+ identities, gender-inclusive language, and affirming community members. Any questions regarding this training can be directed to PRIDE Center Coordinator Trinh Pham at pride@csus.edu.

The training will take place on Zoom. You can register for the training here: https://csus.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZYsd-yopjwiE9UEHcMiemMz_8fAVqAOHZIq. Zoom captioning and transcriptions will be available.

Workshop for the Asian Pacific American Community on Caregiving

Caring for a family member or a close friend is one of the most important roles many of us will ever play. With that in mind, an event co-hosted by AARP California, Student Academic Success/Educational Equity Programs, the APIDA Student Center Planning Committee and in partnership with Parent & Families Programs has been scheduled. The virtual AARP Prepare to Care: AAPI Community Workshop will take place on Thursday, Dec. 16, 2021, from noon-12:45pm and will connect participants with other family caregivers, exchange tips and advice, and share information regarding resources available to you and to loved ones.
